The trip to Collegno -Torino was honestly such a great experience. The train ride there was really nice – smooth and relaxing, and even though we didn't pass through many villages, the views were still beautiful. The Italian landscape is so different from what I'm used to, and it was exciting to see something new. The way back home felt calm and gave me a chance to think about everything that happened during the week.

One of my favorite moments from the whole program was the day we spent with the Italian students in the park. We did this fun activity where we wrote things about ourselves on pieces of paper and threw them to each other. It was such a simple idea, but it actually helped us get to know each other better in a fun and easy way. Everyone was laughing and having a good time – the atmosphere was really relaxed and friendly.

I also really liked the Spanish lesson. It was unexpected but super fun. Even though we were in Italy, learning something in a different language made it more interesting. It showed me how cool it is to understand other cultures and made me want to learn even more.

Another highlight was visiting the Royal Palace in Torino. That place was stunning every room had something special, and the history behind it all was really impressive. I loved the mix of art, architecture, and stories. It felt like stepping into a different time.

All in all, this mobility experience meant a lot to me. I discovered a beautiful city, learned a bunch of new things, and met some great people. It wasn't just a school trip it was something that really opened my eyes and gave me memories I'll definitely keep with me for a long time.
